WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—"To my mind there is abundant, although I regret to say, no conclusive evidence, that the Dominion government justifies family allowances only incidentally as a social service measure, but primarily as an instrument of fiscal or economic policy, which if supported by federal taxes imposed according to ability to pay, will redistribute purchasing power from wealthy to low income individuals and family, and from wealthy to less well-off communities," said Premier Stuart G. ## RAF Thwarts "Dunkerque" Try

Canadian Army Threatens To Engulf Le Havre Port

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin. Copyright, 1944, by British United Press. SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 24.—RAF bombers smashed an attempt by German light warships and merchant vessels to evacuate Nazi troops from the port of Le Havre today as British, Canadian and American armies closed in from the west and southeast on more than 90,000 survivors of the German 7th Army, forced a general retreat from the Seine pocket and threatened Le Havre and also the historic city of Rouen with the imminent capture.

Thwarting a Nazi "Dunkerque," the bombers intercepted the German ships shortly after midnight and in an eight-hour running battle between Le Havre and Boulogne, but the ships to flight. The bombers made 25 separate attacks against the surface craft, which presumably were carrying troops from Le Havre, now on the verge of being engulfed by the First Canadian Army.

Some of the ships put into Boulogne harbor and then attempted to sneak out again for a dash up to the North sea—but they were driven back into port again by the bombs and guns of the RAF planes.

FO Gordon F. Ockenden, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ockenden, 1923 83 street, who was credited with destroying two enemy airplanes and damaging a third in fighting over France on Wednesday.

WITH THE RCAF IN FRANCE, Aug. 24.—(CP)—Group Capt. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, back on the warpath after a period of leave, raised his personal score of German aircraft destroyed to 37 yesterday as Canadian Spitfire squadrons "under his leadership" shot down 12 of 80 enemy aircraft encountered north of Paris.

The RAF's leading fighter pilot destroyed two FW-190s and had his own aircraft damaged for the second time in his long fighting career. Once before a piece of flak hit his plane. Yesterday's damage, a bullet in the wing root, was the first occasion he had been hit in air fighting.

"It looked as though the Jerries were on patrol," said Johnson, who was making his first flight since he returned from leave. "They were at all heights up to 7,000 and 8,000 feet."

The squadron he was leading dived on some and the Red Indian squadron commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. Bill Prest, Prince Albert, Sask., attacked others.

The leading Canadian pilot in this first major action the wing has seen in several weeks was FO Gordon F. Ockenden, 1923 83 street, Edmonton, who scored two kills and damaged another.

Nazi Satellites in Throes Of Political Upheaval After Romania's Break With Hitler

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 24.—Diplomatic sources said today that Russia's armistice terms to Romania call for unconditional surrender and establishment of a democratic government in Bucharest. Russia in turn was said to have offered to guarantee Romania's independence and recognize her right to all of Transylvania, including that section of the border region which Germany awarded to Hungary.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(CP)—A Swiss broadcast, quoting dispatches from Bucharest, declared today that Marshal Ion Antonescu, deposed premier of Romania, has fled to Germany.

The broadcast also asserted that Romanian troops last night marched into the border province of Transylvania, which Romania ceded to Hungary early in the war at German behest.

The report of Antonescu's flight suggested that he might be installed by the Germans as the head of the puppet "national government" which a Berlin broadcast said earlier had been formed "to save Romania from Bolshevization."

Hitler's Balkan House of Cards Starts to Fall as Romania Quits

By The Canadian Press

Hitler's Balkan house of cards has begun to tumble. Romania, richest and most turbulent of the states of southeast Europe and economically the most valuable of the remaining German satellites, has declared herself out of the war. Bulgaria has been trying to get out for some time. Her latest efforts to quit before Germany collapses, received a cold reception Tuesday from belligerents on both sides.

2,000 Bombers Hit Widespread Enemy Targets

By WALTER CRONKITE

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, By British United Press LONDON, Aug. 24.—Allied heavy bombers from Italy and Great Britain, estimated at more than 2,000 strong, struck against widespread targets in central and northern Germany and in the wavering Balkan countries today as clearing weather permitted resumption of the Allied aerial offensive.

Approximately 750 Liberators and Flying Fortresses from Italy attacked two Czechoslovakian oil refineries at Kolín and Pardubice, 40 and 55 miles, respectively, east of Prague, and an airfield at Pardubice. Other Allied heavy bombers in the same force struck at communications throughout Hungary and Yugoslavia, and the railway bridge over the Po river at Ferrara in northern Italy.

HIT AT GERMANY

Some 1,300 heavy bombers, escorted by nearly 750 Allied fighter planes, carried out the other end of the two-way assault with attacks from Great Britain on numerous oil refineries, aircraft plants and other industrial targets in central and northern Germany and at Bruns on the German-Czechoslovakian border.

Flying Fortresses and Liberators accompanied by a strong force of Allied fighter planes, carried out the raid, one of the heaviest assaults in days, with visual bombing and the results were reported "generally good to excellent."

This afternoon, a fleet of four-engine Lancasters of the RAF bomber command dumped six-ton bombs on German E and F boat shelters at IJmuiden, Holland, and a force of Halifaxes attacked shipping at Brest.

The daylight assaults came less than 12 hours after mosquitoes of the RAF bomber command raided Cologne and industrial objects in the Ruhr without loss last night. Yesterday, two squadrons of RCAF Spitfires fought a fierce battle with about 80 enemy fighters northeast of Paris. Although greatly outnumbered, the Canadians downed 12 enemy planes for a loss of three.

ALL RETURNED SAFELY

Despite unfavorable weather during the night, RAF and Dutch Mitchell bombers blasted a German fuel dump at Arques la Bataille, south of Dieppe, and all planes returned safely.

Supreme headquarters disclosed that more than 500 motor vehicles and 15 river barges were destroyed by fighter bombers in attacks yesterday on the enemy's Seine escape routes.

Allied fighters, in direct support of the ground forces along the river, shot down 17 enemy planes and damaged 12 others. Fifteen Allied aircraft were lost.

PEACE PLEA APPROVED
In announcing that Romania had accepted Allied armistice terms and was "taking her fate in her own hands," Young King Michael and his advisors apparently beat shabby Bulgaria to a similar decision by a brief margin. The Bulgarian parliament only yesterday (Wednesday) approved fully the peace plea of that country's premier.

Michael's announcement indicated that Romania hoped to follow Italy's example by becoming at least a "co-belligerent" of the United Nations, saying Romania would fight "the enemy," obviously meaning the Germans.

Romania has been the key to the entire German position in the Balkans. It was there that Hitler made his first infiltration to break up the Balkan bloc in 1940.

BASE FOR ATTACKS

It was there that he gathered his troops first for the penetration of Bulgaria and then for the conquest of Greece.

It was in Romania that he built one of his major springboards for the 1941 attack on Russia, luring nationalistic Romanians on with the promise of return of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, which Romania had ceded to the Soviet Union under pressure a year previously.

But territorially, as well as in every other way, Romania lost by her association with the Germans. Her role was used as a political pawn to placate Hungary and Bulgaria.

Not enthusiastic warriors, the Romanians fought lethargically on the Allied side in the First Great War, yet the country's territory was nearly doubled by adroit manoeuvres at the peace tables, with the late glamorous Queen Marie a leading figure in the political manoeuvring.

NOT UNWILLING VICTIM

In the present war Romania was not an unwilling victim of the Nazi intrigues until the going got rough. After the first flush of victory over the Russians had worn off and they had regained Bessarabia, the Romanians showed a marked lack of enthusiasm for dying for an alien foe on Russian soil. Yet their losses have been heavy, and the flower of their army was sacrificed at Stalingrad and in the defeats that followed.

From the start of the war in 1939 until she joined in the attack on Russia in 1941, Romania was a happy hunting ground for agents of all countries. She, traded with all on a cash basis until the Germans employed a typical fifth-column trick to win her to their side.

The country was thrown into chaos by the German-supported Iron Guard, an anti-Semitic organization of toughs and rabble rousers headed by Horia Sima. These green-shirted copies of Hitler's storm troopers shook King Carol off the throne, replaced him with his young son Michael and instituted a blood bath against Jews.

BACKED ANTONESCU

The Germans in January, 1941 suddenly withdrew their support and helped the military government of Gen. Ion Antonescu. Thus stabilized in a seat that had been extremely shaky, Antonescu was a willing tool as the Germans turned Romania into a great base for the attack on Russia.

As for Bulgaria, authoritative British sources termed foreign minister Parvan Dragovan's peace speech yesterday, in which he insisted his country's declaration of war had been a mistake, as a "rather silly show" and in other Allied quarters the Sofia government's attitude was likened to that of a man trying to sell something he no longer owned.

In Germany, where Bulgarian regrets for the error of declaring war on Britain and the United States could only mean recognition that Hitler's war is lost, a foreign office spokesman said he did not consider it necessary to express German reaction to Dragovan's own personal views.

TOO LATE TO BARGAIN

Competent sources said the Bulgarians already have been told by Britain, Russia and the United States that it is too late to drive a bargain for peace and that Bulgaria must surrender unconditionally.

Survey Shows 5,000 Housing Units Required

But prospective homes are of little use here," Mayor Fry stated. "We want completed dwellings, and there is every indication that many of the homes now under construction will not be finished this year unless drastic action is taken by the Dominion government to make essential materials available."

Mayor Fry said he had received many complaints that furnaces are not available for these new homes. "Homes without furnaces in this territory are useless," he added, "and I have made very strenuous representations to the departments responsible for the supply of these articles seeking to expedite delivery here."

"We are awaiting the arrival of Mr. Arnold, National Housing Commission official, who was scheduled to reach Edmonton Thursday. The whole question of housing will be taken up with him, and every effort will be made to find a solution to this very serious situation."

MAKES REQUEST

He said that a request has been made to the Dominion government, and to the United States authorities seeking the use of the Jesuit college and the Bechel-Price-Callahan building at 113 street and Jasper avenue for conversion into temporary accommodation to meet the housing crisis in the city.

An official of Wartime Housing Ltd. stated Thursday that 244 of the 350 homes being built in Edmonton were occupied, and that the remaining 106, are being delivered at the rate of 45 monthly. It is anticipated that this contract will be completed by Oct. 31.

In supreme court chambers Thursday Chief Justice T. M. Twine adjourned all applications made by landlords for possession of housing accommodation, the adjournments ranging from two weeks to six months.

STUMBLING BLOCKS

Children and cash are biggest stumbling-blocks in the paths of house-seekers in Edmonton today.

If you have children, you can't rent in most cases. If you haven't at least half cash, you can't buy—in all cases.

That's the local housing problem in a nutshell, as far as persons wanting private accommodation are concerned.

Provincial and Dominion governments are coming to the aid of the harassed home-seeker with new housing programs. It has been announced that the new Dominion government plan will be operative in Alberta.

The provincial plan is already under consideration by municipalities. It provides $1,000,000 as nucleus of a fund to be built up by subscription from municipalities and corporations, to be loaned as a revolving fund to those wishing to build. The $1,000,000 will be put up by the government to commence operations.

A local building "co-op," Edmonton Co-operative Building Association, has been operating in the city for the last few years. It has built 50 homes since start of operations, and will have built 55 by the end of the year.

CLAIM PROFITEERING

"Out and out profiteering" is blamed by some accommodation agencies in the city for the present housing shortage.

Many homes, mostly brand new, are vacant, but not available for rent to families. They are for sale, at prices ranging from $1,000 a room upwards, depending on locality. Hundreds of homes are under construction, but all for sale while real estate prices are high.

Outstanding example of the house boom currently prevailing is a three-room home offered for sale in the Alberta avenue district, priced at more than $5,000.

According to Miss Christine Cormack and Miss Marion Kay, co-directors of the YWCA accommodation bureau, the situation as far as homes and suites for rent in the city has not improved, but the general situation for single business girls and couples has eased somewhat.

MANY AIDED

Last month the YWCA bureau found accommodation for 565 persons, and had another 230 for whom nothing could be obtained.

Prices obtained for bedrooms within walking distance of the business section are from $15 to $20 for single persons, and from $20 to $30 for couples, according to the YWCA.

"We don't think any bedroom is worth $30 a month," a "Y" worker stated. "We feel $25 is enough. Some persons have come in wanting $30 for a bedroom, without any cooking privileges."

As far as family accommodation is concerned, Miss Cormack said

Seek Haven for Laval

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The German ambassador to Switzerland was reported by the secret German-language station Radio Atlantic last night to have asked the Swiss government for asylum for Pierre Laval. NBC recorded the broadcast.

Radio Atlantic, the location of which never has been announced, said the Swiss government had not yet made any decision, as this step was seen as an effort to assure a haven for Fascist leaders even from Germany.

There was no confirmation of the report in other quarters. Laval, chief of government in the Vichy regime, was last declared in Swiss-French border reports to be virtually a prisoner of the Nazis in Belfort.

nothing but building will offer a solution to the problem. Owners of homes with a spare room or two do not want to share accommodation with families with two, three, or four children.

NEW PROBLEM

A new problem that will become worse as time goes on is one facing married returned men who have been discharged from the army and are returning to civilian life.

While they have been overseas, their wives and families have been staying with friends or relatives. However, with the return of the husband, separate accommodation is wanted. The men, enlisting in this city, are not transients, but permanent residents. However, they cannot find more than a bedroom in most instances.

"Something should be arranged for these people," Miss Cormack declared. "We have had a dozen men here, back from overseas, and they had no place to take their families. They have walked the city from end to end and found nothing."

GETTING NOWHERE

Mrs. M. E. Fielding, head of emergency accommodation bureau, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, said Thursday "We're not getting anywhere with housing. Nothing is coming in at all."

"We still need 1,500 suites and houses for families here," Mrs. Fielding declared. "We have that number of names on our lists, and people are still coming here from all parts of Canada, for work on construction and other jobs."

"On Canadian wages, a workman cannot maintain rooms for himself here, and accommodation for the remainder of his family elsewhere." Four clients of the Chamber of Commerce bureau gave up jobs here this week and have gone back to their former work elsewhere, Mrs. Fielding said. The reason in each case was that no accommodation could be found here for the worker's family, and it was impossible to maintain two establishments.

Rental control authorities in the city are doing an excellent job in the face of terrific obstacles, according to Mrs. Fielding. She said new regulations are needed in respect to unoccupied homes being held for sale.

"There are lots of new houses built and empty. Owners won't rent them, as they want to sell. There should be a regulation there."

FAMILIES STAY

While many American soldiers and civilians are moving north to Whitehorse and other points, their families are staying here, affording no let-up in the rental strait-jacket.

final delineation of the terms on which they could make peace with Britain and the United States.

According to reliable sources, a Bulgarian peace envoy, Stojche Moshanov, vice-president of the Bulgarian parliament, has had conversations with the British ambassador to Turkey, Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, and that Moshanov's proposals are now being studied in London. It said they involve a "definite step" towards peace and it is understood that Russia, which is not at war with Bulgaria, was being kept informed of developments.

SQUEEZE BULGARIA

While some government circles in Sofia appeared to be holding to the illusion that they could withdraw from the war with some territorial gains, it appeared increasingly evident that the Romanian move would squeeze Bulgaria out in short order—and at the Allied terms.

Authoritative quarters refused to disclose what the original terms to Romania were, and what, if any, promises were made to the Romanians about Transylvania. Romania was braced to meet possible German reprisals, and the government clamped a virtual state of siege on Bucharest.

King Michael, in a royal proclamation last night, denounced the tripartite pact, which Romania signed in the first flush of German victories in 1940, announced acceptance of Russian armistice terms and ordered his armies to expel Hungarian and any German forces from Northern Transylvania.

APPEALED TO ARMY

The official German DNB agency said it had "confirmed" that Michael appealed to the Romanian army to cease fighting against the Soviets, but Moscow dispatches reported the battle still was continuing in Northern Romania.

A CBS broadcast from Bern quoted Swiss reports that the Romanians were fighting German units in the Black Sea port of Constantia and fighting Hungarian forces on the Hungarian border. Most of Romania was said to be firmly in Romanian hands.

Romania's surrender cracked Germany's hold on the jittery Balkans and brought rapid repercussions to Bulgaria, Hungary and Slovakia.

Reliable sources in Cairo said Bulgaria had begun withdrawing its troops from occupied territory in Yugoslavia and speculated that she may be the next of the satellites to abandon Germany.

Radio Sofia was broadcasting only at intervals and reliable sources in Cairo believed "something strange" was under way in the Bulgarian capital. The Germans may have seized the station to prevent any peace move announcement, Cairo said.

Both the Slovakian and Hungarian cabinet were reported to have held urgent meetings to discuss the new situation.

(A Hungarian MTI Agency dispatch said the Hungarian government "has taken all measures necessitated by the new situation" while the Slovak government had made "important decisions" at a meeting yesterday.)

DEGREE ISSUED

A Romanian home broadcast heard by BBC disclosed that the military commander in Bucharest had issued a decree forbidding all public assembly and ordering an 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew in the capital.

"Both soldiers and civilians will be required to hold a special permit to circulate after curfew, the decree said. All street cars and public vehicles were ordered to cease service at 8 p.m."

Michael ordered a general mobilization of all armed forces to march "at the side of the Allied arms."

Berlin railed angrily at the "cowardly treachery" of Michael and his "Anglophile" supporters, and asserted that disorders had broken out throughout Romania in the wake of the monarch's peace appeal.

The Germans DNB News Agency said a "national group of patriots" already had organized against the king and had called upon the army to continue the fight.

The surrender of Romania laid open the entire Balkans to the Allies and posed an ultimate threat of encirclement over German forces holding Bulgaria, Greece and southern Yugoslavia, all south or southwest of Romania.

LOSS OF OIL FIELDS

Germany also faced imminent loss of the Ploesti oil fields, the largest single source of oil for her battered war machine.

A Soviet communique, while not mentioning the armistice, said fighting already had broken out between the Germans and Romanians in northern Romania, where two Red armies were pounding southward toward the Galati gap, gateway to Bucharest and Ploesti.

Romanian prisoners were said to have told the Russians that the Germans were firing on Romanians which sought to retreat. A number of armed clashes between "restraining Romanian units and blocking German detachments" have been reported, the Soviet communique said.

Michael ordered all hostilities against the Red army to cease immediately, but there was no confirmation yet that the Romanians had laid down their arms before the Soviet forces advancing across the Bessarabian and Moldavian plains.

Germany apparently was caught off balance by Romania's defection, underground called on the Allies for help.

Up to a late hour today, no word had been received at Supreme Headquarters that Allied forces actually had entered Paris.

UNSANCTIONED ARMISTICE
The "armistice" negotiations by the French street fighters in Paris apparently were made without previous knowledge of the supreme command. A directive provides that no field commander can negotiate an armistice with the Germans unless Gen. Eisenhower gives his consent.

The feeling was expressed at Supreme Headquarters that the underground operations in Paris and the subsequent call for help resulted in the use of Allied troops which might well have been employed in operations of greater military significance.

It is expected at Supreme Headquarters, however, that German resistance before the city will be of a "rear guard" character.

Earlier, the French announced the capture of more than 1,000 prisoners the first day of the fighting in Paris and said that Nazi losses were heavy in bitter fighting street by street.

GERMANS ASK ARMISTICE

The French forces of the interior commander, Lt.-Col. Koenig said the German commander in the French capital tried to stall the fate of his troops by asking for an armistice.

It was understood from other sources that he sought thus to gain temporary safe conduct for the withdrawal through Paris of German troops which still were in action against American forces in an arc west of the city.

The French said they refused and fought it out and won.

There still was no official word of the total number of Germans captured, but on the basis of the number taken on the first day—before the German stand began to break—the bag might have been considerable.

ifications already had been breached, however, and an official spokesman said the complete occupation of the port was imminent.

BORDEAUX LIBERATED

(BBC radio reports, unconfirmed by official sources, said American and French troops also had liberated the French west coast port of Bordeaux.)

SALON CAPTURED

To the west, American armored spearheads swept 30 miles beyond newly-captured Marseille into the delta of the Rhone River some 20 miles from Arles. Salon, 27 miles northwest of Marseille, was captured, along with a number of smaller hamlets.

Allied headquarters again clamped a protective cloak of secrecy around the American columns which liberated Grenoble in a spectacular dash 140 miles inland from the Riviera, but they were believed fanning out toward the big communications centre of Lyon, 58 miles to the northwest, and Chambery, 27 miles to the north on the last German-held railway between France and Italy.

(The clandestine Atlantic radio said American tanks have occupied Lyon. The Algiers radio reported merely that the advance on Lyon had begun and it was anticipated that Maquis patrolling the Lyon area would make contact with the Americans.)

The latest Allied advances increased the Allied bridgehead in southern France to 6,000 to 8,000 square miles—an average of nearly 1,000 square miles a day liberated since the invasion forces swarmed ashore Aug. 15.

HEMMED IN

Defenders of Toulon hemmed into the old port area, where they were being hammered mercilessly by thousands of tons of bombs and shells from planes, warships and land artillery.

An early intensification of the bombardment from the sea was anticipated with the surrender of the garrison of more than 200 on the island of Porquerres, 15 miles southeast of Toulon, to an American cruiser.

The island had been one of the main outer defence strongholds of Toulon and its coastal artillery had kept Allied battleships and other warcraft from coming in close to shell the naval base.

FRENCH ONSLAUGHT

The early fall of Toulon was assured by the crumbling of its powerful defence belt to the east and northeast. Mt. Du Paradis, Mt. Des Oiseaux, Carqueiranne, Le Pradet, La Garde, La Valette and Faron all were captured in the French onslaught.

Other French forces stabbed deeper into Toulon from west and northwest, capturing the maritime prefecture, the Place D'Armes and neighboring streets just east of the naval arsenal, the main centre of enemy resistance.

American columns were continuing rapid progress northwest and north of Marseille, which fell yesterday after being encircled with a thrust to the sea west of the port.

Advancing along the Marseille-Avignon highway, the Americans penetrated well into the Rhone delta within 20 miles of the river itself at Arles. Only sporadic resistance was being encountered.

The number of prisoners seized at Marseille and other details of the capture still were lacking.

Substantial Number

An official spokesman said, however, that a "substantial number" of prisoners was captured at Marseille. The big port yielded after French columns co-operating with American troops swept completely around the Etang De Berre, a big salt lake west of Marseille, and sealed off the last escape route at Marignane, on a narrow isthmus connecting the port with the Rhone estuary.

5,300 Prisoners

LONDON, Aug. 24—(CP)—French forces of the interior took 5,300 German prisoners in the liberation of Haute Savoie department on the Italian frontier, Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig's headquarters announced yesterday. Some 1,900 were captured at Annecy.

Roosevelt Says Continued Unity Vital For Peace

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared yesterday that the Nazi ideas implanted in Germany's youth will menace the world for many years, and hence the Allies must work "absolutely in unison" to enforce "a peace that will last."

The President's remarks, made to the Dumbarton Oaks world security conference, indicated a belief that the Allies will have to keep a close watch on Germany, possibly for 50 years.

RECEIVES DELEGATES

He received the British, Russian and American delegates at the White House shortly before John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, conferred with State Secretary Hull and exchanged ideas on American participation in a world security organization.

Mr. Roosevelt based his remarks on a conference he had yesterday with War Secretary Stimson. He said Mr. Stimson told him that "unfortunately in Germany the young people, the young Nazis, favor an idea which will be dangerous to the peace of the world just as long as they have anything to say about it."

"The prisoners of 17, 18, 20 that we are capturing now—both on the French front and the Soviet front—these German prisoners of that age are even worse in their Nazism than the prisoners of 40 or 45," the president said.

PERIL REMAINS

"As long as these young men have anything to say about it," Mr. Roosevelt said, "the peril of Nazism will always be before us."

"Thus," he went on, "we have got to make, not merely a peace, but a peace that will last, and a peace in which the larger nations will work absolutely in unison in preventing war by force. But the four of us (the United States, Russia, Britain and China) have to be friends, conferring all the time."

Mr. Dulles told reporters after his talk with Mr. Hull that they had made "very considerable progress in exploring the possibilities of Bi-partisan co-operation."

important than family allowances; an adequate health insurance program, for example."

TREMENDOUS COST

Placing the cost of family allowances at $250-million a year, the Manitoba premier said that this cost "is so tremendous when compared with existing expenditures upon education and social services that it makes a thoughtful person wonder whether it will not in some day adversely affect the amount which can be made available for other social services."

In addition, Mr. Garson expressed the hope "that the dominion government does not intend to tell the provinces that having provided family allowances without consulting the provinces, and without being asked by the provinces to do so, it will not for that reason refuse to adequately assist the provinces in other social security measures. If it did take this position that would probably mean for a province like Manitoba that because we had received family allowances without asking for them we would be deprived of an alternative form of social security such as an adequate health insurance scheme which would cost less and be worth more to us as a social service."

REASSURE CANADIANS

"I suggest to the Dominion government," Garson said, "that it will reassure Canadians, particularly in six of the provinces of Canada, and will secure greatly increased support for family allowances, if it makes a more explicit statement than it has so far done, that the provision of family allowances will not prejudice in any way federal support for either social security measures such as health insurance or the improvement of education standards in Canada."

The premier said that pending such a statement, the province would withhold judgment on family allowances until a Dominion-provincial conference has been held.

Assessing the allowances program in the light of alternative services which could be carried out for the benefit of the provinces, Mr. Garson added, "such meditation in Manitoba leads us to the view that as compared with the infinitely smaller cost of our existing services, the cost of family allowances does not assure any comparable social return."

The Strathmore detachment, R.C.M.P., made the capture following word from Nels Stangness, district farmer, that the German had been at the latter's home earlier.

deny a report broadcast by radio France at Algiers that an American tank column had swept down more than 150 miles south of the Loire, joined forces with French Partisans and captured Bordeaux, the fourth city of France.

STRIKING AT TROYES

One armored force of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army was reported striking into the outskirts of the Troyes rail hub, a pivotal point on the network of railway lines funneling into Alsace-Lorraine and the Saar Valley.

A second tank column drove up from Orleans in a wide sweep around the southeastern suburbs of Paris, cut across the Loing river and drove eastward through Montargis, 65 miles southwest of Troyes.

Only feeble opposition was reported in the path of the fast-moving American armor and it appeared that the German grip on all eastern France had been shaken badly by the disastrous beating inflicted on the Nazi 7th Army in Normandy.

MOVING IN ON PARIS

Allied forces also were moving in on Paris, which a premature French announcement yesterday said had been liberated by French patriot forces, in response to an urgent appeal for help from Maquis and armed civilians battling the Nazi garrison in the streets of the capital.

Northwest of Paris, American forces drove down the south bank of the Seine against feeble enemy opposition, and advanced as much as 2 1/2 miles to capture the Seine river port of Elbeuf.

Official sources indicated that the British and American squeeze had brought the battle of the Seine pocket into its final phase.

Battered German forces, estimated to number more than 90,000, were fleeing eastward through a 25-mile gap before the Canadian First and British Second armies in the west and units of the American 1st Army on the east.

OPPOSITE LE HAVRE

Canadian, British, Dutch and Belgian units, battled into Honfleur at the mouth of the Seine directly opposite Le Havre, while other British forces on their right flank inched forward through a German screen of anti-tank weapons and artillery in the Lisieux area.

While determined enemy rear guards put up a savage fight for anchor positions around Lisieux, the rest of the front farther south appeared to have collapsed.

Signs of demoralization among the German troops were noted by British press correspondents. Wm. A. Wilson who reported from Lisieux that one substantial German force entered a British position under the impression it was held by their own troops. In another case, 15 German guns were captured by British infantry, German covering troops had been withdrawn but the gunners were not told and suddenly found British soldiers on top of them.

HUGE TRIANGLE

The German pocket position yesterday formed a huge triangle extending about 40 miles along the Seine and about 60 miles along the southern leg. By this morning the Seine leg had been cut to 25 miles or less and on the south it was reduced to about 21 miles between the Americans at Conches and a British force that pushed five miles northeast of Monnal on the road to Bernay. Other British troops advanced 3 1/2 miles north of Orbec to Thiboutiere, eight miles west of Bernay.

Lt. Gen. Courtney Hedge's American 1st Army troops, meanwhile fanned out in two columns southwest of the Seine and swept down almost unopposed toward the channel coast.

One column captured Conches and lumped on 23 1/2 miles to the northeast to capture Elbeuf, where thousands of Germans and huge masses of enemy equipment had been reported jammed along the Seine river bank trying to cross in small boats and improvised rafts. Le Neubourg, 13 miles north of Conches, also was taken in the American drive.

The second column seized Evreux after a 28-mile dash from Dreux and went on 12 1/2 miles to take Louviers on the Seine.

Rouen, the only main railway center on the Seine still open to the enemy lay 8 1/2 miles ahead of Elbeuf, and front dispatches indicated the Allies were closing rapidly on that historic city.

ARMED CLASHES

Romanian prisoners told the Soviets before the announcement of the armistice that the Germans had fired on their units, killing a large number of officers and men, in a vain attempt to halt the retreat. In some sectors, prisoners said, there had been "armed clashes between retreating Romanian units and blocking German detachments."

Nothing official was announced in Moscow regarding Romania's capitulation. The only news bearing on the subject printed in today's newspapers was a seven-line Tass dispatch from London quoting the Bucharest radio to the effect that Gen. Constantin Sanalescu had formed a new government. The dispatch was printed obscurely on the fourth page, while news of continuing hostilities in Romania was given prominent display.

Field reports said enemy resistance in some sectors of Romania literally was melting away under Soviet blows from air and land. Masses of unopposed Red Air Force bombers had inflicted unparalleled punishment on "disorganized, demoralized remnants of enemy armies, reducing them to the character of panic-stricken mobs," one dispatch said.

The army organ Red Star asserted that Soviet columns sweeping south from Iasi and the Dnepr were encircling and destroying group after group of German and Rumanian troops. Enormous quantities of arms and other equipment were captured intact.

Hail Liberation

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 24—(AP)—News of the liberation of Paris provoked a spontaneous demonstration yesterday in the Plaza Francia where a French monument stands. Several thousand thronged the plaza and almost buried the monument beneath flowers.

headquarters hinted strongly that an Allied move of major import was imminent and stated that strict secrecy will be imposed on military movements for the next two or three days.

The spokesman predicted confidentially, however, that the shattered German divisions would be unable to make a stand on the far bank of the Seine, if, indeed, any succeeded in making the crossing.

Southeast of Paris, American 3rd Army tank columns were reported pounding into the outskirts of Troyes, a vital railway hub only 130 miles from the German border. A second flying column was revealed to have swept up from Orleans, crossed the Loing River and drove beyond Montargis, 65 miles southwest of Troyes.

Minister Warns Coal Shortage Appears Likely

has said that America faces a 6,000,000 ton shortage of anthracite and shipments to Canada will have to be reduced.

"I am surprised that in spite of repeated government warnings there are still many householders who are complacent about the coal situation," said Mr. Howe. "Last year the co-operation was splendid and the deliveries were spread over the summer, fall and winter. Thus hardship was averted."

"This year there will not be as much hard coal available. Delivery men and trucks are much scarcer than in 1943. Fuel conservation has not been forthcoming. And it is possible that the winter will be more severe. The results may be very serious, unless every household recognizes, at once, that it is in its own best interest to take delivery of its fuel just as soon as the dealer is able to supply it."

CONSUMPTION RISES

Canadian consumption of coal has risen rapidly since the outbreak of war. In 1939-1940 a slightly under-average total of 28,000,000 short tons was used. Two years later the total was 41,000,000 and for the last coal year it was approximately 44,000,000.

The requirements for the current coal year are estimated at 47,000,000 tons. Thus the consumption increase since 1939 has been approximately 70 per cent.

A coroner's jury yesterday held Brunelle responsible for Miller's death after evidence that the Dieppe veteran suffered gunshot wounds outside Brunelle's hotel while on his way home on leave. A statement said by police to have been signed by Brunelle, said that the hotel owner had thought he was dealing with burglars when he fired the shotgun.

The Jesuit College

The United States Army Northwest Service Command has practically concluded evacuation of its Jesuit College headquarters. The empty building now becomes the property of the Canadian government.

Some weeks ago, when this move was first known, it was announced that the structure would not be made available for civilian housing but would be employed for some government purpose, probably a rehabilitation project.

That decision should be reconsidered. There is no doubt that the building should be employed for the benefit of the fighting forces. But what greater benefit could be conferred on the fighting forces than to know that their families were comfortably housed at a reasonable cost? What greater benefit could be conceived than an enlargement of available space for men newly discharged from the services?

The truth is that housing is just as serious a problem in this community as rehabilitation and bears just as close a relation to the welfare of servicemen.

It would be a useful and sensible thing if the Jesuit college were transferred into small suites for the use of servicemen and their families.

The housing situation is desperate in Edmonton. Meantime if the government requires a building for rehabilitation purposes, it possesses all the priorities to go ahead and erect a new one, advantages which the city does not enjoy.

Certainly the employment of this space for any other purpose than housing, under present circumstances, will be deeply resented by this public.

Mr. Drew Explains

If conviction were lacking that Premier Drew of Ontario were engaged in deep political intrigue over the family allowances measure, his present charge that his statement had been "misinterpreted" would leave no doubt whatsoever.

Mr. Drew's declaration that the family allowances plan is iniquitous because it leaves Ontario paying the major part of the bill and deriving a minimum part of the benefits has been challenged, quite properly, not only on the ground that it revealed an inhuman viewpoint, but on the ground that his claim was economically fallacious.

No matter how you read it, Mr. Drew's argument was an obvious attempt to stir up antagonism towards Quebec. It is little use for him to talk interprovincial amity while building up a provincial policy, for election purposes, of resentment towards a neighbor community.

Indeed, Mr. Drew made it quite clear that he was willing to scuttle the whole vital plan for the mere reason that Quebec, ostensibly, would get more out of it than Ontario. In short, he would penalize all Canadian families for the sake of denying Quebec families benefits. He would restrict all Canadian purchasing power for the sake of establishing an election issue upon which he might consolidate his hold in Ontario.

In point of economic fact, Mr. Drew's complaint was shown to be absurd. Contributory taxation in Ontario would only appear to be comparatively high because it would be paid by institutions which derive their profits from the entire country. What Mr. Drew calls the excess taxation in Ontario for family allowances purposes would not be a charge upon Ontario alone but upon every province where the tenacles of these institutions spread out.

Premier Drew's statement of explanation does not retreat, in any important particular, from this position. He claims that he was wilfully misinterpreted and then proceeds to set forth exactly the same case as excited the challenge of the country in the first place.

Why, then, does the Ontario premier attempt any explanation at all since his views have apparently not changed in the slightest?

The truth is that Mr. Drew has become alarmed by the political repercussions. He wants to maintain his position so far as Ontario is concerned, but to soften down the implications for the other parts of Canada.

Certainly this should remove any doubt that Mr. Drew is drawing a long bow at the Progressive Conservative leadership. Only national political anxiety could trap him into such an impossible and contradictory position.

Like A Fairy Tale

Swiftly and surely, as the greatest human tragedy in mankind's history works out towards its dramatic end, the plot of the colossal play takes on the familiar pattern of the fairy tale.

Everywhere the good princes and the just kings are moving towards their reward. Everywhere the evil geni are moving towards death and destruction.

Our forces in France are rolling forward victoriously with a rapidity which we cannot even yet comprehend. Success is topping our efforts in Italy. The Russian armies are storming the gates of East Prussia.

It is becoming apparent that before the end of the year the greatest military problem will be how quickly we can move forces and equipment to the Far East.

Hitler is raving impotently in a hotbed of treachery.
Our arch-enemy Rommel is dead.

Marshal Petain, with unbelievable poetic justice, has been taken into custody by his German friends.

Romania has not only surrendered but has turned actively against the Germans. Paris is in Allied hands.

Never in the history of the world has there been, as in the past few weeks, such a stupendous vindication of the belief that good must inevitably triumph over evil and that right is always more potent than might.

It is the most gigantic fairy tale ever written. And one can almost bring oneself to believe that the traditional ending, that they lived happily ever after, might in some way also come true.

His Majesty the King has commanded, in view of all these bewildering circumstances, that September 3, the anniversary of the war's beginning, be set aside as a day of prayer and thanksgiving.

Nothing could be more magnificently appropriate. For prayer is also a part of the fairy tale, a petition that righteousness shall prosper and that evil-doing shall be rebuked.

Cholera Vaccine

The development, by a Canadian physician, of a successful anti-cholera vaccine is of vast importance as the war draws to a close and brings the prospect of famine, disease and epidemics in the defeated and ravaged countries.

Cholera is one of those plagues which accompany war. It follows the course of privation and starvation. It thrives where nervous energy has been exhausted and where sanitation has necessarily been neglected.

Almost every great war has closed in an epidemic of disease. There is no doubt that the influenza spread of 1918 and 1919 bore a direct relation to conditions in Europe precipitated by the conflict.

Cholera, then, is one of the nightmares of medical men under present conditions. The development of this new serum which is both a preventative and a cure is timely and important.

Canada and the Pacific War

Appropriate Part Will Be Taken in Struggle in Far East

By R. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA—That there is only one war, though it is being fought on both sides of the world against Germany and Japan, has been the constant theme of Mr. King's successive war reviews in Parliament since early in 1942. "The policy of the government," he said on Aug. 11, "is to see that our appropriate part is taken in the war against Japan to the very close of the war."

At the same time, Mr. King refused, for reasons of security, to give information regarding Canada's plans to participate in the coming offensives against Japan. The information, he said, could not be given "until the moment had come when agreement had been reached by all intending to contribute as to the extent of their contributions," Mr. King went on.

"There is this always to be kept in mind, that from the beginning of the war our forces have been employed in many parts of the world, but mainly in Europe, and that United States forces have not been in the war as long as our forces have, also that the United States have large forces already employed in Asia, to an extent greater than there are British and other forces employed there. What disposition therefore will be made of armed forces as between the United States, the British and those of the different dominions I am not in a position to say at the moment."

What Mr. King said, in effect, was that final decisions have not been made regarding the scale and allotments of forces to be mobilized against Japan by the United Nations. Canadian military sources have actually disclosed more than the Prime Minister indicated regarding Canada's participation in the Pacific phase of the war. In 1943 Canada had several officers attached to a British military mission in the Pacific to report on modifications required in weapons in the Pacific fighting zones. Early in 1944, twenty Canadian officers went out, attached to American, Australian and New Zealand forces, and some of them participated in operations at Saipan and possibly Guam.

Despatch of 400 or 500 technical personnel to the British army in India and to the Australian army was announced on Aug. 4. An RCAF mission, headed by Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson, is at Mountbatten's Southeast Asia headquarters in Ceylon. Royal Canadian naval plans for entering the war against Japan will rest chiefly upon what the British navy does, as technical collaboration with the British navy is easier for the Canadian navy due to similarity in equipment.

This will likely mean that Canadian naval units will operate in the Indian Ocean in conjunction with British naval forces under the Mountbatten command, rather than in the western Pacific in conjunction with the U.S. Pacific fleet. As far as army plans go, the evidence so far suggests Canadians will go to the Mountbatten command rather than to an American command area in the Pacific, though the precedent set up at Kiska in July, 1943, of Canadian-American collaboration may influence decisions to be made by the Canadian government and general staff when the time comes to send army units to the Pacific.

Mr. King's remark, quoted above, suggests that the final disposition of Allied forces for the war against Japan has not been decided. It is obvious that final plans can be made only when the role of Russia in the Pacific is known. There is, in addition, an apparent conflict of view over the correct strategy by which to secure the unconditional surrender of Japan.

Since the U. S. Pacific fleet landed forces in the Gilbert Islands in November, 1943, developments in the Pacific war have been dominated by naval strategy, and with sensational success. The claims of naval power command the highest premium at present, and Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander-in-chief of U.S. Pacific fleet, recently declared that the surrender of Japan might be obtained without an invasion of Japanese homeland.

On the other hand, the belief exists that the problem of defeating Japan will be solved only when the Allies establish powerful land forces in China and destroy the entrenched army of Japan on the continent of Asia. Such an operation will considerably extend the Pacific war beyond the limits foreseen by the admirals who believe that the defeat of the Japanese navy means the defeat of Japan. Recently, Mr. Churchill said he had reason to believe the war against Japan will not take as long as he once thought. Mr. Roosevelt, returning from a conference in Hawaii with Nimitz and MacArthur, said that the occupation of Japan's homeland would be carried out.

Meanwhile, the concentration of strength in the Mountbatten command has proceeded slowly and the strategy by which it will be mainly employed remains undisclosed, and undoubtedly will be until the time arrives to strike. And the strategy of coalition warfare in which forces under Nimitz and MacArthur on one hand, and forces under Mountbatten on the other, will collaborate in the final stages of the war against Japan, remains a matter of speculation.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Congressmen who have heard the inside story of General Benny Giles' long-towing to the British in Egypt are all burnt up; some talk of probing the whole Near Eastern picture.

One thing which especially burns them up is General Giles' instruction to Americans in Cairo last month that there should be no celebration of the 4th of July. The General sent out word that celebration of American independence from Great Britain might offend our British allies and there should be no dinners or parties among those under his command.

As a result, Cairo was so quiet on July 4 that one Britisher approached an American friend next day and said: "Very inopportune of you fellows, not to invite us to any of your 4th of July parties. We've always been invited before."

Note: Many Britishers do not agree with Churchill's Empire policy of throttling the Greek liberation movement; also have no great respect for General Giles' subservient attitude toward Churchill policy.

Cold Air

An engineer at the Navy Department building got a call the other day to come to a room on the ground floor, raise the temperature in an overheated, air-conditioned suite. Arriving at the room, the engineer was surprised to learn the man who had complained was Polar explorer Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Note: Washington doctors say their summer business has never been better since air-conditioning hit the capital. Donald Nelson recently got midsummer pneumonia. Lt. Earle Mayfield, son of Texas ex-Senator, came to Washington's air-cooled hotels from Houston, was taken to the hospital on a pneumonia stretcher.

Close friends of Winston Churchill reveal that the key to his most important moves is his ancestor the Duke of Marlborough, founder of the Churchill dynasty. The men Churchill chooses for important posts, his policies of Empire—all are influenced by studying the life of Marlborough.

Lord Halifax, for instance, will never have to leave his post as British Ambassador to Washington as long as Churchill is Prime Minister, for Halifax's ancestor once saved the Duke of Marlborough from jail.

Likewise, Churchill's friendship for Sir Alexander Cadogan and the latter's appointment as British peace-machinery negotiator back to the fact that Cadogan's ancestor was chief of staff to the Duke of Marlborough when Marlborough invaded Ireland in 1690. Sir Alexander is now chief British delegate to the Dumbarton Oaks conference to lay the cornerstone for future world peace.

Churchill best tells the story himself in his book on Marlborough. "William Cadogan (later Earl of Cadogan), a Dublin lawyer, had won Marlborough's confidence at the taking of Cork and Kinsale," Churchill wrote. "Throughout the ten campaigns, he was not only quartermaster general, but what we call chief of staff and director of intelligence. It was Marlborough's practice to send with the reconnaissance cavalry an officer of high rank who knew the commander-in-chief's mind and his plans and could observe the enemy through his eyes. Cadogan repeatedly played this part."

"He shared Marlborough's fall, refusing to separate himself from the great man to whom I am under such infinite obligations. I would be a monster if I did otherwise."

Halifax

Churchill's ties to Lord Halifax, Ambassador in Washington, are even deeper.

Halifax's ancestor, according to Churchill's own account in his book, "conducted a rudimentary form of life insurance. At 24 Marlborough purchased from Lord Halifax for 4500 pounds (given him by the Duchess of Cleveland) an annuity of 500 pounds for life. It was a profitable investment. He enjoyed its fruits for nearly fifty years. It was the foundation of his immense fortune."

However, the earlier Lord Halifax performed an even greater service for Marlborough, which Winston Churchill has not forgotten. Marlborough was suspected of treason for communicating with the exiled King James and was thrown into the London Tower by King William of Orange. Churchill tells in his book how, after Marlborough had been in prison six weeks, Lord Halifax "did not fail him" and secured his release after putting up bail of 6,000 pounds.

Today, Churchill will never fail the present Lord Halifax.

NOTE.—The Duke of Marlborough, who fought the Battle of Blenheim against the French, is considered one of England's greatest soldiers. Somewhat like Winston Churchill, he is described as having "held together for years an army drawn from every nation in Christendom."

Dumbarton Oaks Is Preliminary

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—There is a tendency, perhaps because it's a political year, to build up the Dumbarton Oaks conference as more important than it really is, on the one hand, while pushing it over with the other hand.

Actually, there's an excellent chance of reaching a working agreement at what Sir Alexander Cadogan, head of the British delegation, called "the humble official level." The conference was never intended to do more than prepare the way for a final agreement.

In the light of this modest aim, the pomp and circumstance surrounding the first session seemed excessive. Or at any rate, the number of news reel cameras focussed on the conference table was out of proportion to the scale of the event itself.

The men who sat around that table in the glare of the Klieg lights were chosen because of their brains and their technical ability. All indications are, that they will start with a framework on which there is general agreement, since all three countries have previously circulated draft plans which coincide at major points.

national statesmanship are conspicuous by their absence. Once this is an "exploratory" gathering, each country has sent capable representatives who come primed with the point of view of their respective countries. They are men of experience.

Alexei Vishinsky, a vice commissar for foreign affairs for the Soviets and judge at the famous Moscow treason trial, might have added a bit of color and authority to his delegation. One thing however, is in favor of ambassador Andrei Gromyko, and that is that the conference will know when he speaks that he speaks not for himself but for Stalin. Whereas, if Maxim Litvinoff, also a vice commissar for foreign affairs and with far more background than the ambassador, had been chairman of the delegation, there would have been room for doubt.

No one could be so impressed with the Soviet admiral and the Soviet general who sat at the conference table with Gromyko. They are both young men, and yet you felt they had been tempered by the fire of death and destruction which has rooted their land. They had the look of quiet strength that seems to mark most of Russia's fighting men.

Cadogan, permanent under secretary of state for foreign affairs in Britain's advanced civil service system, is one of the most capable men in the field, with a long background of experience. At the opening meeting, his remarks had more substance than those of any other speaker. He

"Same symptoms, Mrs. Pilks! You need a change, maybe a trip to Mexico! Sorry it's impossible to send you on a voyage around the world!"

Time to Can Peaches Is Now

Plentiful Supply Is Ready To Preserve for Next Winter Use

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

With news from our neighbors to the west that the peach crop is a bumper one, now is the time to preserve some for winter use as commercially canned peaches will be limited for civilian use.

Because of their flavor and color, peaches are most desirable for pickles, chutney and marmalades. These spicy mixtures will add interest and appetite to many winter-time meals.

The two best known varieties are the freestone, which is most popular for canning and for desserts, and the clingstone, which is used for pickling.

Since the majority of peaches will be canned for dessert use, let's first consider the various methods. You can do them by the open kettle method, hot water bath, oven canning method, or if you are one of those plutocrats with a pressure cooker, then the pressure cooker method.

The laborious task of peeling peaches is simplified if you put about twelve peaches into a large square of cheesecloth and plunge them into rapidly boiling water for 60 seconds. Then plunge into cold water and the skins will fairly slip off. Do a few peaches at a time and have your jars and syrup ready so that they can be covered with syrup immediately which prevents them from turning dark.

Peaches are one of the fruits which you can do without sugar if your canning sugar quota is running low. At serving time drain the liquid from the canned peaches and add sugar to suit your taste, or one half cup of sugar to one and one half cups of liquid. Heat to the boiling point before adding the drained fruit. Allow to cool for several hours in the syrup for best results.

Spiced
Cook five cups of brown sugar with two cups of mild vinegar, two sticks of cinnamon and two tablespoons whole cloves for 20 minutes. Peel peaches and measure four quarts.

Drop peaches into boiling syrup, cooking about half of them at a time. Cook until tender. Pack into sterilized jars and seal at once. This will make about six pints.

Chutney
Peel enough peaches to make four quarts, then cut into large pieces. Cook peaches with two quarts of mild vinegar until soft. Add one-half cup of finely chopped onion, two cups of sugar, one-fourth pound of raisins, chopped; two tablespoons white mustard seed, one tablespoon powdered ginger root, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, two tablespoons grated lemon rind and three tablespoons lemon juice.

Cook until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. This will make about four pints.

Conserve
Combine six cups sliced peaches with the pulp and grated rind of one orange and cook for 20 minutes. Stir in five cups of sugar and cook until thick.

Add one-half cup of shredded blanched almonds, one-half teaspoon ginger and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Pour boiling hot into sterilized jars and seal at once.

Preserves
Cut peeled peaches into halves. Measure fruit and add an equal amount of sugar. Cover and let stand overnight. Cook without water until fruit is tender. Add two cracked peach pits and the juice of one-half lemon while fruit is cooking.

A shorter method for making preserves is to peel two pounds of peaches and cut them into halves. Boil two cups of water with three cups of sugar for five minutes, then let cool.

Add peaches and cook until clear. Let stand several hours. Drain. Pack fruit into sterilized jars. Boil syrup until it is thick as honey. Pour hot syrup over the peaches and seal.

Nazi Jokes

FROM NEWS OF NORWAY

A Norwegian who has just arrived in England from his homeland reports that humorous anecdotes about German and quislings are no longer as common in Norway as they once were.

It is comparatively seldom now that one hears jokes or wisecracks about the Nazi personalities or conditions in general. This does not mean the people are losing heart, said the man. Rather it is an indication of a new seriousness that has gripped the popular mind as the day of complete victory draws nearer.

Gadget

MONTREAL GAZETTE

The news that Harvard University has become the recipient of an automatic sequence-controlled calculator may not stir the schoolboy's fondest hopes, but it ought to.

This algebraic superbrain will solve in a few hours equations never before solved because of their intricacy.

It is an electrical gadget 81 feet long and 8 feet high, containing among other things 500 miles of wire, 3,500 multiple relays, and 72 adding machines.

This confirms our judgment, formed at an early age, that the human skull is not intended to house machinery for solving equations.

A farmer wrote to a rural paper asking "how long cows should be milked."

"Why, the same as short cows, of course," advised the editor.

New Chief Justice

By FRANCIS ALDHAM

In The Vancouver Daily Province

He has signed his judgments, since 1921, just "Tweddie, J." For as many years as he remains Chief Justice, his signature will be "Tweddie, C.J." To at least half the population of Calgary he is forever "Tom."

Tom Mitchell Tweddie is a big, friendly man of 72 who has been associated with the public life of Alberta for at least 27 years. He has just been appointed Chief Justice of the trial division of the Alberta Supreme Court. When Chief Justice Ives retired a week or so ago, there was never a moment's doubt as to who would be his successor.

Only the oldest inhabitants can remember when Lawyer Tweddie, a strapping Nova Scotian of 35, first hung out his shingle in Calgary. That was in 1907, in the era of the west's expansion. Within four years, Albertans sent Tom Tweddie to the Legislature. There he served six useful years as a belligerent member of the Conservative opposition and when the wartime election for the Federal Parliament occurred in 1917, Tweddie went on to Ottawa as a Unionist.

Germans in Paris Requested Armistice

By CHARLES COLLINGWOOD

PARIS, Aug. 24.—(By Radio via London)—(AP)—The French 2nd armored division entered Paris yesterday after the Parisians arose as one man to beat down the motley, terrified German troops who had garrisoned the city.

To Teach Religion In Ontario Schools

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—(CP)—A course in religious education will be started in grades I and II in Ontario public schools when the school term resumes Sept. 5, it was announced Tuesday night in a statement from the office of Premier Drew, who also is provincial minister of education. The course will be introduced in other grades, one by one, as guides for teachers become available.

The statement described the course and booklets which will be used by teachers as "experimental and provisional" and added that "At the end of the school year revision is planned in the light of the experience gained during the first year's teaching."

The instruction, two half-hour periods a week at the opening or close of the school day, "will normally be given by the teacher, but by resolution of the school board a clergyman of any denomination may give the instruction in lieu of the teacher."

The course is optional for pupils, school boards.

It was the people of Paris who really won back their city. It all happened with fantastic suddenness.

The American army was occupied with the drive through Evereux to the mouth of the Seine, after which it was planned to invest Paris.

Then Tuesday, a Frenchman burst into Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley's headquarters. He was the chief of the forces of the interior in Paris and he had a staggering, incredible story to tell.

CONCLUDED ARMISTICE

He said he'd concluded an armistice with the German forces in Paris. The people of Paris had risen, and so hounded the Germans that the German commander requested an armistice. He wanted to withdraw troops from the road blocks west and south of Paris where they had been facing the Americans and pass them through the city.

The armistice was to expire at noon yesterday.

This news caused a sensation in Gen. Bradley's headquarters because although he had known that rioting had been going on in Paris since Saturday, he had not known things had gone so far that obviously the French had given the Germans a terrific beating.

The whole operation was geared to the complete encirclement of the Germans west of the Seine, but Gen. Bradley decided we must go into Paris. It was short notice, for the troops had to be ready to enter at noon yesterday. Bradley ordered the French 2nd Armored Division out of the line and told it to start moving east toward Paris.

(Note: The 2nd Armored Division is part of Brig. Gen. Le Clerc's French forces attached to the United States 3rd Army. The 3rd Army is part of the 12th Army group headed by Gen. Bradley.)

Certain American forces were sent the same way. On a moment's notice the whole machinery was set in motion to occupy the world's third largest city.

It is no mean responsibility. Paris is in desperate straits. It is estimated that she needs immediately 3,000 tons of food and 3,000 tons of coal. After that there must be huge and steady supplies.

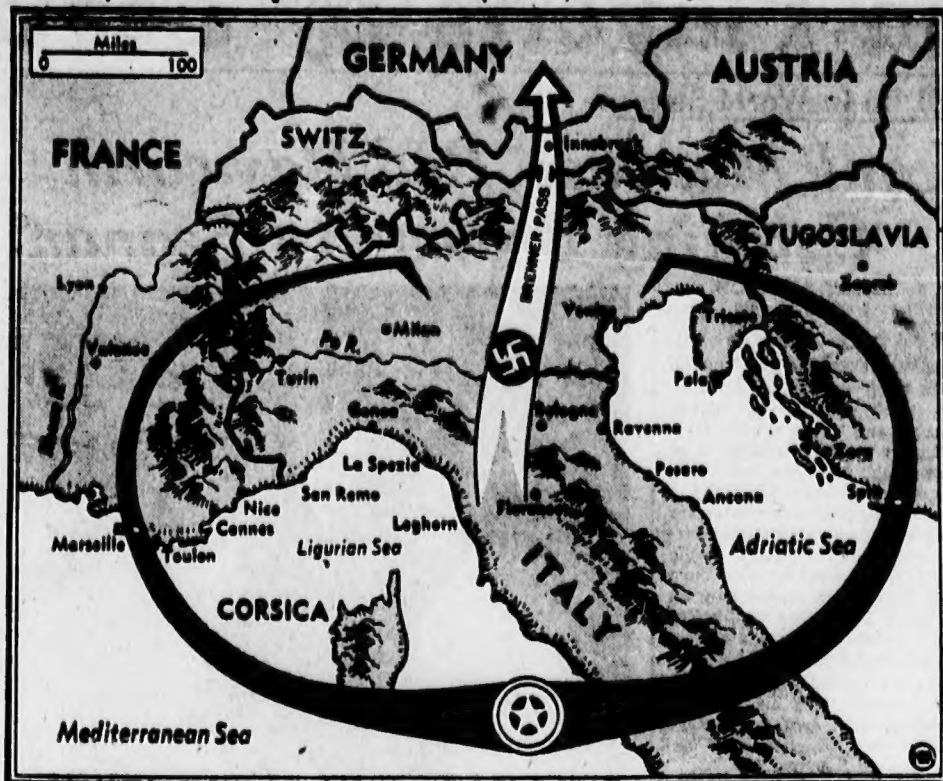

But the decision had to be made, if only as a tribute to the tremendous fact that the French reconquered their own capital.

Every hand was raised against the enemy. For the first time in this war, the inhabitants of a city have wrested it from the enemy.

Paris, queen of cities, fell to her own citizens, who proved that there is no such thing as defeat.

More than 300,000,000 people in the world use cocoanuts in some form every day.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

Anticipating Allied capture and consolidation of French Mediterranean ports, armchair strategists see interesting possibilities of a surprise pincers movement, as diagrammed on map above, that might spell quick doom for Germans in northern Italy. Left arm of pincers could thrust eastward through Alpine passes on to broad plains above Po river; right arm would require amphibious invasion on east coast of Adriatic. Success of movement would trap Nazis in northern Italy, force their surrender or flight through Brenner Pass, which is at mercy of Allied bombers.

HELMUTH BROWN did a neat mound job while handing the package of ye olde whitewash to Wayne Adams' Yanks at Renfrew on Wednesday night. It was the first shutout sustained by the league leaders this year and only the fifth during the entire schedule.

Dodgers blanked Arrows 9-0 on August 2 and Signallers added an 8-0 setback to the same club three days later. Yanks shut-out Signals 6-0 in the opening game on May 21, and beat the Dodgers 4-0 on August 15. And so now all clubs have been victims at least once.

Yesterday's was Brown's 14th journey to the mound, thus retaining top honors in volume at least. Tommy Brant of Dodgers and Al Walker of Yanks rank next, both having worked in 11 games. Brown has labored a total of 91 2/3 innings, in winning three and losing five times.

BROWN gave up 10 hits—three in one inning and a pair on two occasions. He climbed out of tough spots three times last night, the worst of course being in the seventh, when with one down, he was nudged for successive singles by Bill Myers, Al Goodrich and Walter Nelson.

And Walter Nelson did by long odds his best pitching of the year—five innings without either a hit or a run and he also rang the bell twice for singles. Nelson walked only a single batter and Brown not even one. The latter has given exactly two bases on balls in his last 46 innings.

Bert Culver, as usual, was around when free ducats to first base were being handed out. He picked only one last night and so his average suffered slightly. Bert has been in 22 games and has gathered up 27 bases on balls. He has drawn a blank just once in his last 19 seasons, his first three being complete failures.

IT WILL seem like old times at Renfrew Park on Sunday afternoon, with Harley cavorting around short and whipping the ball over to "Long John" Gullekson at first base. The Fort Lewis lineup also includes Tony Lollo, the voluble backstop, Walter (Lefty) Miskosky and Skip Phillips.

A big second inning, highlighted by Len Haines' homer over the centre field fence, that netted them all their runs gave Moose a 5-4 victory over Central-Aeroliners in the opener of the best of three City Men's Fastball League semi-final at Kingsway Park. Second game of this series is set for Friday night.

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—One thing the country needs almost as much as the traditional good five-cent cigar is more of the same program handed out at a special course at University of Western Ontario in London. Aside from the benefit the teachers themselves get out of the course that schools them in the fundamentals of various major sports, their pupils also stand to benefit, for when they go back to their classes this fall.

Too often teachers are turned out of the normal colleges and schools, and expected to carry on physical instruction classes, knowing a bit about "physical jerks," but all too little about actual games to help out their students.

The plan could be broadened still more, after the war possibly, when returned athletes not only could be used as instructors for these special courses, but also given jobs as travelling coaches, circulating about the various schools and giving the youngsters needed pointers. That would be about as valuable a bit of physical rehabilitation as could be thought of.

Incidentally: Two members of former Winnipeg Blue Bombers crack football squads became proud fathers recently. Lieut. Bud Marquardt of the U.S. Army drew a son, while it was a girl for Capt. Bill Bolvins. Regina's Al Ritchie is doubtful of football prospects in the Saskatchewan capital this fall. He told Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning he had some good material lined up but most of it was in the armed services, and he couldn't touch it under the new Ottawa services order. Manning didn't give him much sympathy, however, noting that was Regina's usual trick.

Plays Sunday

A. J. Little, secretary for Vevreville Golf Club has sent in a reminder of the annual open tournament being held on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 3 and 4. The 18-hole qualifying round starts at 9 a.m. on the Sunday.

Bruce Hembling, already holder of a couple of provincial swimming records, added another to the list during the city championships held at South Side pool on Wednesday night. He swam, of course, as a member of the team from H.M.C.S. Nonsuch. And by the way, Bruce and Miss Margaret Paterson, well known to city cage fans as a member of Percy Page's Comets, are being married on Sept. 2. Margaret, incidentally, was official scorekeeper for the Men's Senior Basketball League last winter.

Helmuth Brown Registers Third Win Via Shutout

Signals in Playoffs by Beating Yanks 2-0

Semi-Finals To Commence On Saturday

HELMUTH BROWN pitched U.S. Signals into the playoffs for the Senior Baseball League title when he shut out Yanks 2-0 while picking up his third win of the season at Renfrew Park on Wednesday night.

Secretary Bill Harris announced following the game that the best-of-five semi-final series between Dodgers and Signals would commence on Saturday, with 6:30 p.m. the starting time. The survivor of this series will meet the Yanks for the league championship.

Signallers collected only three hits last night, but two of them came in the fourth inning and along with a walk and a stolen base were good for the pair of runs which won the game.

All three were made off Johnny Gray, who was relieved by Walter Nelson in the fourth with one run already in and Bob Sawyer—who later scored on a flyout—perched on third base.

Nelson cut Signallers off without a single safe blow for the remaining five innings and in addition to pitching airtight ball, tossed in a couple of his himself, before giving way to pinch-hitter Pete Meyers in the ninth.

Under the revised schedule, Yanks were to have played Arrows tonight in the final league fixture, but as the outcome could have no effect on the standings, the game was cancelled.

Signallers first hit was made by Bert Culver in the third. Bert stole second and died there.

A walk to Jim Junker in the fourth set up what proved to be the winning run. Wes Reed ran for Junker, whose injured ankle is not yet fully recovered, and promptly stole second and he scored when Bob Sawyer singled into centre field.

Lester Nelson then slapped the ball into right field, sending Sawyer to third, and Wayne Adams sent in Walter Nelson to relieve Gray.

Nelson threw out Dan Hackler at first, but Wasik lifted a fly to Valenti in centre field and Sawyer scored on the throwin. Richard Bean, catching his first game for Signals, fouled out to Burchfield.

Only 12 men faced Nelson in the last four innings and just two got on base. Sawyer walked in the sixth but went out on a double play—Burchfield to Robertson to Myers and Wasik, who reached first by being hit, was thrown out by Goodrich trying to steal second.

Yanks had at least one man on base in six of the nine innings, and they filled the bases with one out, in the seventh frame but the necessary hit was not forthcoming. Valenti reached third and Dunn on second with one out in the eighth stanza. Yanks also had two outs in the third and eighth innings without getting anywhere.

Frank Mancuso, Red Hayworth Catching Browns to Pennant

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Browns disagree with those who contend that catching is their one weak spot.

In their freshman year, Frank Mancuso and Myron Claude Hayworth are efficient enough to be catching the St. Louis club to its first American League pennant in 43 years, and their teammates are confident they will be considerably more than adequate in the World Series. And backing them up is Tom Turner, acquired from the White Sox on waivers, better than a green hand and a smacking left field hitter.

Not a few baseball men said Luke Sewell should have his head examined when he sent Frank Hayes back to the Athletics and Rick Ferrell to the Senators.

Who would handle the Browns' pitchers?

Manager Sewell knew. He had the best line on Mancuso and Red Hayworth.

Mancuso literally dropped out of the sky into the Browns' camp at Cape Girardeau last spring. He spent last season in the Army, was a lieutenant of paratroopers when given a medical discharge as the result of being injured in a jump.

PITCHING IS ANSWER

Mancuso and Hayworth, brothers of widely-known catchers, were developed by the Browns. Mancuso's work with San Antonio ticketed him for the berth he now holds. Hayworth came up via Norfolk, Augusta, Dallas, Winston-Salem and Toledo, where he batted .278 in 102 games last season.

Red Hayworth Tom Turner
Mancuso and Hayworth have almost evenly divided the Browns' catching, and the answer to it is the steadiness of the pitching. Not once this campaign have the Browns lost more than three games in a row.

Mancuso, 25, is perhaps the cagier of the two. At 6 feet and 190 pounds, he is considerably bigger than Gus of the Giants and, like his illustrious brother, suffers from lack of speed.

Hayworth, 6-1 1/2 and 200 pounds, is the superior hitter and the one more likely to swat a long ball.

CONQUER FOUL BALLS

Mancuso and Hayworth had the same trouble last spring—with foul balls—but quickly conquered it. Breaking into the majors, many catchers experience difficulty with air currents created by towering stands.

Mancuso and Hayworth have not

Frank Mancuso dropped out of the sky for the Browns.

been without instruction. The Browns are the only big league club run entirely by old catchers. Sewell's aides are Freddie Hofmann, who caught for the Yankees, and Zack Taylor, who spent time with all three New York clubs and the Cubs.

With Luke Sewell running the works, a catcher has to have little more than mechanical ability, but Mancuso and Hayworth think for themselves and the club—and the pitchers have implicit confidence. Rarely has a club come up with such an accomplished pair of freshman catchers.

Frank Mancuso and Red Hayworth arriving in baseball's third war year makes their story all the more remarkable.

For Business Reasons

Dutton Refuses Presidency Of N.H.L. for Coming Winter

MONTREAL, Aug. 24.—(CP)—The National Hockey League looked for a new president last night following the announcement of Mervin (Red) Dutton that he would not be available next winter for the $15,000 job.

Dutton, one of the most colorful figures of the big-time pastime for two decades, was obviously regretful as he made his announcement, basing his refusal of the presidency on the fact that it would leave him too much out of touch with his western contracting business.

Most of the N.H.L. directors were probably just as regretful. Dutton took over as managing director last year and made such a good job of it that the offer of the presidency was officially unanimous last spring. Dutton took the offer under advisement for the summer.

"I'm resigning with much regret," he said today. "I'd like to stay, but it would leave me too much out of touch with my business out west. It was a mighty tough decision for me to make, after 24 years in the game, but that's the way it will have to be."

NOT UNEXPECTED

The announcement was not unexpected, and even before it came there was speculation on who would likely be chosen to lead the league this winter. The matter probably won't be settled until after a league meeting here Sept. 8.

Three newspapermen are among those who have been mentioned in recent days as possibilities for the post, but they are far from holding a monopoly on the list of possible candidates.

Elmer Ferguson, sports editor of the Montreal Herald and recognized authority on NHL matters has been mooted in some quarters, but Elmer himself has come out strongly in favor of Baz O'Meara, sports editor of the Montreal Star. Also mentioned is Bobby Hewitson of the sports department of the Toronto Telegram.

George Dudley, Midland, Ont., lawyer and former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, is known to have considerable support, while others mentioned are Billy Hewitt of the Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens; Leo Dandurand, Montreal sportsman; and Frank Patrick, brother of Lester Patrick of New York Rangers.

NEVER OFFICIAL HEAD

The choice may be one of those, or it may be somebody entirely different. Whoever it is will become the second president of the 27-year-old league, because Dutton was never officially president although he took over following the death of Frank Calder, who guided the league for 25 years.

Dutton's hockey career dates back to 1919 when he returned to Winnipeg after four years service overseas in the First Great War and plunged into commercial hockey. He was a member of five clubs at one time and averaged eight to 10 hours a day on the ice. For years he played hockey in winter and barnstormed the prairies

Resigns

Mervin (Red) Dutton, acting president of the NHL since the death of the late Frank Calder, yesterday made an official announcement that business would not permit him to retain the position for the coming season. "Red" has been associated with the league since 1926, when he joined the Montreal Maroons.

with a baseball team in summer. Finally he wound up on a Calgary hockey team which was ruled out of the amateur game and Red and his mates promptly entered the old Western Canada League. In 1926, after it folded up, he sold himself to Maroons for $6,000 cash and landed a $30,000 more.

PILOTTED AMERICANS

In 1930 he was sold to the New York Americans and got control of that club about 1935 when its owner, Bill Dwyer, talked him into loaning him $20,000 cash to meet pressing obligations. Dutton received all the club stock. He piloted his amazing Ameks until they folded for the duration in 1941. He remained a member of the N.H.L. board of governors and when Calder died in February, 1942, was appointed managing director.

Born in Russell, Man., Dutton now is about 45. His father, William A. Dutton, for years operated one of the biggest railway and road construction companies in the Canadian west with headquarters in Russell and Winnipeg.

Two sons served overseas with the RCAF in this war. Sgt. Joseph Dutton, 23, was for official purposes presumed dead June, 1943, and Sgt. Alex Dutton, 20, was for official purposes presumed dead March 3, 1943. Both had previously been reported missing.

Bomberettes Gain Playoff Berth Fastball League

Bomberettes won their way into the City Girls' Fastball League playoffs when they scored two runs in the fifth inning to defeat Walk-Rite "B" 2-1 at Kingsway Park Wednesday night in a special game to decide the fourth playoff berth.

A pair of errors, a single, a double and two putouts gave the Bomberettes the runs that turned the trick for them.

Isobel Dunn scored the winners' first run when she singled, made second on an error, and then came home on two putouts. Beatrice McCready tallied the victors' other counter when she got on base on misue in centre field and was driven in by Bubbles Ferrier's mighty two base blow to centre field.

The Walk-Rite club had previously lost with a run by Gwen Riddle in the second frame. She reached first on a hit to left field, moved around to third when the left fielder erred on the play, and then came in on a misue at first.

Both teams received good pitching. Val Stevenson hurling a three-hitter for Walk-Rites and Edna Jones chucking four-hit ball for the winners.

Bruce Hembling Sets Record City Swim Championships

BRUCE HEMBLING achieved a feat he has been aiming at for the past two seasons last night when he knocked one-fifth of a second off the provincial record of 25 1-5 seconds for the men's 50 yards free style city swimming championships held at the South Side pool.

Bruce, who was swimming under the colors of H.M.C.S. Nonsuch has equalled the mark twice this summer, but last night finally made the grade while he was defeating a fellow-seaman, Allan Carmichael and Lance Ford for the ECU cup.

Three members of Dave Sissons' South Side Club turned in outstanding performances in the big meet. Daria Shoemaker and Doug Swail both captured two firsts and a second spot, and Stewart Morrish took a first and finished behind Doug in the junior boys half mile.

Renewed rivalry took place in the junior boys' half mile. Jim Milne, who won the event last year, Doug Swail and Stewart Morrish have all competed against each other in many meets and last night met again.

Jimmy Milne had previously been the best performer of the three, but in this year's provincial championships, Swail edged him out and then last night, both Swail and Morrish beat him. Morrish was third in their last meeting. All three young tank stars appear headed for some gaudy swimming performances.

Swail finished second to Morrish in the junior boys' 100 yards free style. The only others last night to win more than one event were Doreen and Kay Elliott. Two other Elliott girls, Doris and Janet, also did very well, but failed to reach the finish line first in any one event. Doreen also had a second.

The relay swims created some thrills for the good crowd. The Navy, paced by Hembling, won the men's relay, the West End Club took the junior boys' and Aircraft Repair captured the senior ladies' relay.

The fans were given some added entertainment when Jimmy Crockett and three girls put on a performance and later when Harold Williams and Albert Jones put on a clown diving event.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and a guy who has been in baseball for quite a few seasons, must be wondering today just what a ball club has to do to win a national league pennant in this war year.

Frustrated Frankie, and he must be just that, has keyed his Pirates to such a pitch that they have won 19 of their last 21 ball games but still are 17 and a half games behind the leading St. Louis Cardinals, only a game closer than they were when they started this phenomenal brand of ball on Aug. 6.

Tuesday night for instance, the Pirates won their sixth consecutive game by beating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-5. But the Cardinals won two from the Boston Braves with a Frank Frisch net loss of one half game to the Bucs in their desperate drive to close the wide gap between themselves and St. Louis.

INSTALLED OWN SPIRIT
FRISCH evidently has installed some of his own fighting spirit into the Bucs for on paper the club gives no evidence of the strength which has carried it to 17 triumphs in its last 18 games. According to the latest official averages, the Pirates were fifth in team batting and sixth in fielding.

Their top pitcher Truett (Rip) Sewell, from a games won standpoint, has but 14 triumphs and has dropped 10.

One star, now shining brightly in the Pittsburgh outfield, is Jim Russell, a ball player good enough for the majors in any year. Russell, in his second year under Frisch, has sparked the club at bat the past few weeks and has worked his average up to around the .300 clip. He fields well, runs the bases in a Frischian manner, and has a bullet like peg from the outer gardens.

than not, have come from behind to turn the trick. Ten of their victories since Aug. 6 have been decided by one or two runs, and one of the two losses suffered was a 3-2 decision to Philadelphia.

A lack of starting pitchers plagued the club early in the season, else the distance from the Cardinals might not be quite so great. The acquisition of Fritz Ostermuller, former Dodger, from Syracuse of the International League proved a great boon to Frisch. Not only did it give him another starting hurler, but a left-hander as well. And Fritz has chalked up nine victories for the Bucs since joining the club.

Fireball Frankie has the Pirates going great, but he wishes somebody would give him a solution for the Cardinals. He can use it. The Pirates open a four-game series in St. Louis on Friday.

Competition Starts Today
At Tam O'Shanter Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Golfdom's giddiest whirl, with some of the confusion eliminated by three days of qualifying rounds, gets under way over the 72-hole medal-play route today as George S. May presents his three-day woman-amateur-pro all-American race for $42,500 over Tam O'Shanter's rolling terrain.

Twenty-six Simon Pures, survivors of a starting field of 384, along with 28 women from an original 48, and 100 of 240 professional entrants, were still in there ready to pitch and putt for the lure.

Most of the "good ones" did not appear in the qualifying tests, being exempt along with an unknown number of service men under the rules set up for the seven-day merry-go-round which permit the stars to go directly into competition. All the hot-shots will be in the field, with Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia favored in the professional race which will net the winner some $13,462.50—A sum which no golfer has ever taken from a single tournament up to now.

Yesterday's professional qualifier, due to start at 8 a.m., didn't get away until 11 because of a heavy rain, and the late starters were still hacking their way around when darkness fell.

The best pro's could do was a pair of 68's, turned in by Henry E. Williams of Roversford, Penn., and Claude Harmon of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., each of whom ripped ped two strokes off par on each half of the course.

Their scores, however, were still one over the brilliant 67 with which Ed Furgol, Detroit public linkster, paced the amateur field Monday. While the amateurs needed scores of 75 or better to get into the title play, 77 was good enough to get into the professional fold.

Paris Liberation Celebrated Here

Edmonton being a long way from Paris was considered reason enough, about 2 a.m. Thursday by residents in the vicinity of 116 avenue and 86 street, to complain about an uproarious party going on in the district.

City police, responding to the complaint, were informed by the celebrants that they were celebrating the liberation of "Gay Paris," but promised that the party would be "loned down" in volume.

Vet of 4 Years Overseas Has 'Bewildering' Time When Greets His Two Daughters

Father of two daughters, Sgt. A. H. Lane, 11706 92 street, had a "bewildering" time in the Welcome Home hut at the CPR station Wednesday night. Pat and Barbara, the two girls, had changed so much during the more than four years he had been overseas that he couldn't tell one from the other and kept questioning his wife about which was which. The girls didn't care about that. All that mattered was that their dad was back home and they weren't letting go of him even long enough to let him drink his coffee.

Sergeant Lane was one of a group of soldiers who arrived in Edmonton, after returning to Canada aboard the hospital ship Lady Nelson.

He enlisted in The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in February 1940 and transferred overseas to the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards. He took part in the invasion of Italy and is now home on compassionate leave.

Other veterans of the fighting in Sicily and Italy who returned to their homes Wednesday night included Pte. A. E. Winter, Vermilion; Bdr. R. Barnett, Vermilion; Pte. Thomas McNally, Edmonton; L.-Cpl. W. Prime, Pouce Coupe, B.C.

Others expected to arrive are Cpl. H. C. Erickson, Ardena; Tpr. W. Logan, 13450 113 street, Edmonton; Sgt. A. Park, General Delivery, Edmonton; Gnr. A. R. Pomerleau, 12530 54 street, Edmonton; Pte. J. W. White, 9651 103A avenue, Edmonton; Pte. S. R. Murrell, South Edmonton; Cpl. W. Bennett, Eastwistle; Spr. J. E. Trydill, Edson; Cpl. R. Frentzen, Tupper, B.C.; Pte. H. A. Dalgleish, Grande Prairie; Pte. T. Thomas Camrose; Pte. W. G. Tuck, Concord; Sgt. D. C. Wells, Red Deer; and Pte. C. E. Stolee, Donalda.

Pte. Winter, a 20-year-old veteran of the Italian campaign, was hit in the spine by a piece of shrapnel during the attack on the Hitler line and after spending leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Winter at Vermilion, he will return to hospital.

He enlisted in December, 1942, and joined the Seaforth Highlanders during the battle of the Moro river and fought up the Adriatic coast on the Cassino side.

Bdr. R. Barnett of Vermilion was with a divisional artillery section and took part in the invasions of Sicily and Italy. During the landing operations on Sicily the craft he was aboard was torpedoed and he spent an hour and a half in the water, clinging to a life raft, before he was picked up.

Of the fighting in Italy he described it as "plenty of work, plenty of heat, and plenty of good hard slugging."

He is back as a prisoner of war. Pte. Thomas McNally, a member of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment has been overseas for four and a half years and took part in the fighting in Sicily and Italy.

L.-Cpl. W. Prime wears the oak leaf on his breast, signifying that he was mentioned in dispatches. His mention was for service as a stretcher bearer, bringing out wounded under fire, at the battle of Leoflohe in Sicily.

Members of the Welcome Home committee were on hand to meet the returning men and in addition, members of the Kiwanis club supplied cars to drive the men to their homes.

Farmers Permitted To Protect Crops

Alberta farmers are permitted to protect their crops at any time by shooting wild ducks causing damage, according to recent amendments to the migratory birds act, which was announced today by provincial government officials.

The new regulations state that any owner or occupant of land in Alberta, having a cereal crop growing or in stock, on his land may shoot on such land wild ducks which are damaging the crop provided that the wild duck so killed shall not be sold or offered for sale, and shall not be shot outside the area on which the crop is being injured.

If the owner or occupant cannot give sufficient protection to the crop himself he may grant authority in writing to residents of Alberta to shoot the wild duck found to be damaging his crop, but he shall immediately notify E. S. Huestis, provincial game commissioner, at Edmonton, of such authority giving the names and addresses of the persons so authorized by him, together with a description of the land on which the crop is being damaged.

Girl Is Injured When Hit by Car

Thelma Todd, 9748 100 street, knocked from her bicycle at the north end of the Low Level bridge, about 10:15 p.m. Wednesday, told city police that she had stated to the car driver she was not hurt. Shortly after reaching home, she found it necessary to go to the Royal Alexandra hospital, where it was found that she was suffering from shock, a cut to one ear and a bruised leg. She was detained at hospital overnight.

Three British Evacuees Plan To Return Home

Three British evacuees who are expecting to return shortly to England, Fay Griffiths, who has been prominent in swimming circles here, and her two younger brothers, Hugh and Donald, are filling out their papers and reading up on the necessary data prior to leaving for home at the first opportunity, and are rather excited about it all.

It is more than four years since they left their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Griffiths at Barwell, Leicestershire, England, and came to Canada. They arrived in July, 1940.

The boys have been residing with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. Bennett of Flatbush, and Fay has been staying with Mrs. J. C. Jefferson of 11319 79 street.

Miss Griffiths went to Alberta College here, receiving a business training, then began working with the Butler-Hawkins Contracting company, later transferring to the United States Engineering Division. She was an ardent lover of swimming. In 1942 she took the city mile championship and last year the Wrigley provincial mile championship. She says she has been too busy to do much swimming this year.

WILL COME BACK

The most remarkable thing about Canadians to Miss Griffiths' way of thinking is the informality and friendliness of the people toward each other, particularly demonstrated in competitions. She did express her intention of coming back to Canada again soon.

"I have had lots of fun and met so many nice people here that it will be hard to leave but it will also be nice to get home," she said. On a trip to Banff she had been greatly impressed with the Canadian Rockies.

Donald and Hugh have been going to school at Flatbush and will surely have some comments to make on this to their friends at home.

The taggers received a sympathetic response from the general public.

The youngest taggers were Miss Diane Ankers and Keith Potts, both 11 years old. Diane tagged till quite late in the afternoon. Keith tagged till zero hour. Their sales were $12 and $27.25.

Accepting the congratulations Chief Justice Twieble paid high tribute to the work done by former Chief Justice W. C. Ives.

Leaves Service

WO1 Earl L. Britton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Britton, 12424 109 avenue, has received his discharge from the RCAF after more than three years' service in European and African theatres of war. He is 22 years old.

Young Airman Leaves Service After 3 Years

By GRAHAM BARKER
WO1 Earl Leonard Britton, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Britton, 12424 109 avenue, is "back home" after over three years overseas.

A "veteran" of the present war, this former railroad worker from Jasper knows what it is to travel on a "turtle railway"—where the first-class coach fails to reach the standard of a railroad stock car. He knows the weariness of long hours of flying, dodging deadly barrages over enemy territory, and the terrifying experience of being struck by flying, splintering missiles high in the air.

But all that is over now, for he had received his discharge, and now faces the "prospect of working, instead of fighting, for a living." The second youngest member of a family of four children, Earl Britton joined the RCAF in Edmonton in 1941, and trained at Regina, Brandon, High River and Dauphin, Man., before going overseas in December of that year, attached to the RAF.

He was wounded in operations in the Mediterranean area, he suffered a shrapnel wound which put him out of the air for some time. Previously, he had attained the rank of flight-sergeant, and saw action in Egypt and North Africa.

The young airman's discharge became effective recently, while he was resting at Banff, following which he returned to the city, arriving here Tuesday night.

Born at Rivers, Manitoba, he lived with his parents, brother and two sisters at Jasper until he donned uniform in 1941. His father, R. D. Britton, is locomotive foreman at Calder Canadian National Railways shops.

Power Production Reveals Increase

Of the 1944 production 57,548,900 kilowatt hours was consumed by the electric light department, 7,998,800 by the street railway department, and 5,379,100 by the pumping plant at the power house.

In the 1943 period, 49,974,400 kilowatt hours were taken by the electric light department, 9,008,400 kilowatt hours by the street railway department and 4,921,900 by the pumping plant.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

There are string beans, of course, growing in your garden—baby limas, red speckled beauties and other varieties. So you'll welcome some new ideas and recipes for serving these favorites.

STRING BEAN AND EGG PLATTER

(Serves 4)
One and one-half pounds string beans, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 cup cream sauce, 1/4 or under a very low heat in the broiler. Send to table piping hot.

SALMON WRAPPED DEVILED EGGS
Four hard-cooked eggs, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 1/4 pound smoked salmon, thinly sliced, cayenne pepper, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, milk, vinegar, as needed. Remove shells from eggs—cut in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks, add prepared mustard, parsley and vinegar sufficient to make a moist filling. Add cayenne to taste. Fill hollows of egg whites cup grated cheese, 4 eggs, deviled, wrapped in smoked salmon.

String bean platter, with salmon-wrapped deviled eggs.

"French" the string beans, cutting them into long slim pieces. Add the salt and boiling water; cook quickly until beans are just tender and the water absorbed. Arrange on a pyrex or other oven platter. Over the beans pour the cream sauce.

CREAM SAUCE: Two tablespoons butter, mixed with 2 tablespoons flour and cooked with 1 cup milk until smooth and creamy; season with salt and pepper.
Arrange on platter around the beans, the halves of eggs, deviled and then wrapped in smoked salmon. Sprinkle cheese over the beans, cream sauce and eggs. Brown in hot oven (450 degrees F.)

Wrap each egg with a thin slice of smoked salmon; fasten with toothpicks. Arrange on platter with beans.

MY DAY

HYDE PARK—There are many arguments in favor of a year of national service.

Many things would be accomplished even if it were just a year of military service. For instance, the nations of the world would know that we were never again going to be caught unprepared—that at all times the young manhood of our country was in condition, with sufficient training to protect the nation and to prevent any surprise attacks. Our equipment would be modernized and adequate.

There would also be the advantage, under any circumstances, that young men from all the different groups which make up the citizenship of the nation, at an early and impressionable age, would be thrown together. They would know each other, and differences in background and environment would melt away before the stark realities which close association soon brings out. Only a man's character is the real criterion of worth. There is also the possibility of teaching young men how to take care of themselves in the open. If they have not had that opportunity in civilian life, there is the added opportunity of seeing something of a very great nation, which they might not do except at the expense of the government.

I believe, however, that it is worth thinking of the possibility of giving young men a new conception, adding to the one that all men have had since time immemorial. Every man in every nation has always felt that, in time of war, it was his duty to protect his country; and the man who did not feel this obligation was usually looked down upon by his compatriots. But many people in our country, as well as in other countries, have grown up with far less sense of obligation toward their peacetime citizenship. The statistics on voting alone prove this. The fact that over and over again you can ask a group of people to name their representative in congress, and get no reply, shows that we, as citizens, are not aware of the same passionate patriotism which must be devoted to peace as it has been to war.

If we hope for peace in the future, this sense of knowing that we have an obligation as citizens to be responsible day by day for our representatives, to leave any community we are in the richer for our presence, must become evident to us all. Perhaps this knowledge might be advanced if a year of service were not purely military, but included a development in the knowledge of conditions within the areas in which training was given, as well as an understanding of government problems in those areas and a sense of having contributed in some way to their solution.

These are just things I hope people will think about as they discuss the national service act.

There is one more aspect of the subject which I would like to bring to you tomorrow.

KANDY, Ceylon—(CPI)—A jeep was used by two officers of a Gold Coast field company to transport supplies down the Kaladan river in Burma. The wheels were removed from the jeep, which was mounted on a dugout canoe raft built by African sappers, and a wooden propeller was fitted.

Eighty guests were present at the wedding reception which was held at the home of the bride's parents. Gladioli and other garden flowers were arranged throughout the rooms.

Mrs. Rymer wore an ensemble of turquoise blue, wide white leghorn hat of straw and shoulder bouquet of white gardenias.

The bride's table was bright with a cutwork cloth and was decorated with pastel flowers and tall candles in silver holders. A three-tiered cake formed the centerpiece.

Airforce Officer Pledges Vows With Miss Ruby Margaret Ruff

At an all-white ceremony in Christ church Wednesday at 8 p.m. the marriage was performed of Miss Ruby Margaret Ruff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruff, of Edmonton, and Lt. Kenneth C. A. Smith, DFC, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Smith of Saskatoon. The Rev. E. S. Ottley officiated.

Escorted by her father, to the altar which was decorated with pink and white gladioli, the bride was gracefully dressed in a bridal gown of white satin, fashioned on princess lines, with fitted bodice fastened down the back with tiny self-covered buttons, sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves pointed over the wrist. Her semi full skirt shirred at the hipline swept to a court length train, and her embroidered fine net veil held to her head with a coronet of orange blossoms followed the lines of her frock to a long train. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

BRIDESMAIDS

Miss Elsie Ruff and Miss Nona Hodgson attended as bridesmaids. They wore similarly styled gowns of toe-length sheer over taffeta, fashioned with full skirts, gathered to long torso waistlines, long full sleeves, and sweetheart necklines. Their finger-tip length veils of silk net were held in place by a tiny ruffle of white sheer flowers. Completing their ensembles they carried colonial bouquets of sweetpeas and carnations.

Best man was PO Orville Dove, RCAF, recently returned from overseas, and Stoker Douglas E. Brennan, RCNVR ushered the guests to the pews, which were marked with tiny white bows.

Miss Gertrude Teates played the wedding music and H. G. Turner sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony a reception to the family and immediate friends, was held at the home of the bride's parents, 12102 101 street.

Mrs. Ruff, receiving with the bridal party was dressed in a dinner gown of deep ivory lace. Her hat was a large black felt model and her accessories were in black. She wore a shoulder corsage of Tallman roses. Mrs. J. P. Illebrun, sister of the bride, also receiving with her mother, was frocked in a floor touching gown of turquoise sheer over taffeta. She wore a tiny matching hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetpeas.

The bride's table was set in an ecru lace cloth, centred with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with tiny pink rosebuds. Tall white tapers and vases of pastel shaded sweetpeas completed the table decorations.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left later on a wedding trip to Jasper. For travelling the bride changed to a beige gabardine tulle. Her accessories were in brown and she topped her ensemble with a brown coat, with a corsage of Tallman roses pinned at her shoulder.

During the evening many telegrams were received from Vancouver, Saskatoon, and Kimberly. The bridegroom has just returned from overseas after three years of active service. He was decorated by the King at Buckingham Palace in 1942 when he received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Wheat Export
Traders Active

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—(CP)—Wheat export traders are active today on the Winnipeg grain exchange with Switzerland taking 300,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern and Erie 185,000 bushels of Nos. 1 and 3 Northern.

Transactions in coarse grains involved the sale of 400,000 bushels to Eastern Canada and fair amounts of oats to the east.

Rye again traded irregularly, an escalation at Chicago influencing the market. Losses were reported early but futures rallied in later stages.

Chicago Market Shows Weakness

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Senate banking committee approval of the Bankhead bill to increase the cotton loan rate to 85 per cent. of parity bolstered sagging grain futures markets today, but the deferred contracts continued to show weakness.

May and July wheat established new seasonal lows during the session and most of the day the market was under hedging pressure.

Rye rallied quickly following announcement of committee approval of the Bankhead bill. Prices moved up 1 1/2 cents or more from the day's low.

Oats rallied along with other grains but the upturn brought out increased offerings from a commission house with northwestern connections.

At the close wheat was 1/2 higher, was 1/2 higher to 1/2 lower, barley was 1/2 higher to 1/2 lower, rye 1/2 higher to 1/2 lower.

The map printed above shows the distribution of rainfall that occurred over the prairie provinces during the fall of 1943 and the summer season of 1944—from April 1 to Aug. 7. It will be observed from the map that the distribution of the rainfall over the provinces has been reasonably good, and that the large area in Southern Saskatchewan, sometimes called the "dust-bowl" of the prairies, has for still another year enjoyed good rainfall.

The total moisture condition for the three prairie provinces, weighted for wheat acreage, is 97.8 per cent. of normal, compared with 97.2 per cent. of normal last year. For Alberta the total moisture condition is now 88 per cent. of normal, for Saskatchewan 98.7 per cent. of normal, and for Manitoba 117.8 per cent. of normal.

We hazard the opinion that the crop yield per acre of each of the provinces will be found to correspond fairly closely with the amounts of rainfall registered for each province.

Mayor Praises Flower Growers For Fine Work

Edmonton is one of the most "flower-conscious" cities in the Dominion of Canada today, according to His Worship, Mayor John W. Fry, who addressed those present on Wednesday evening at the Horticultural Society flower and vegetable show, in the Market building, when trophies were presented to prize winners.

Supporting Mayor Fry's statement is the fact that more than 3,000 persons passed through the doors to view the displays. This is a very conservative estimate as those in the uniform of the Allied armed forces were admitted free of charge along with members of the Horticultural Society and guests having complimentary tickets.

JUST ORDINARY PEOPLE

Mayor Fry further said: "In most cities, when you are taken to see the display places, you will note that most of them belong to only the wealthy class, while in Edmonton, it is the ordinary people like you and I, who are trying to beautify our home grounds."

District News in Brief

Whitecourt Ferry Now Re-Installed

WHITECOURT—The McLeod river ferry has been re-installed in the old location. A new site has been chosen a short distance upstream where the water is deeper and new approaches are to be made, so that the ferry can be moved to it next spring. The present site is considered by officials as unsatisfactory during the average autumn months when the water is low.

A few small fields of grain have been cut here.

A farewell "handkerchief tea" was held in honor of Mrs. Ed Burch on Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Syd Brown, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. M. Ommundson were hostesses. Mrs. Burch is leaving for Edmonton this week to join her husband, Sgt. Ed Burch, who returned from overseas. He is now employed in the postal department. A party was arranged for Mrs. Burch in the Westward school in the vicinity of her father's home, George Otterholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pearson of Calgary were weekend visitors here. Mrs. Pearson was formerly Margaret (Micky) Stevens, daughter of C. A. Stevens, Whitecourt's first police magistrate. This is her first visit home in 16 years. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John Torgerson, who now lives in Edmonton. ## Air Power

Effect of Jet Propulsion

By Maj. A. P. de Seversky

Since jet propelled aircraft made their debut on the battlefronts of Europe, a great deal has been written on the subject. But people at large have as yet failed to relate the technological novelty to their everyday lives. The speed at high altitudes made possible by this new motive power has been emphasized; so has the present uneconomical consumption of fuel involved. Little has been said, however, about the effect of jet propulsion on aviation as a whole.

It is my conviction that this type of propulsion is here to stay and is even designed to nose out the present reciprocal gasoline engine. In only a few years after the war, I believe, the propellerless airplane, driven by jet engines, will be as familiar as the orthodox current types.

My own life, it happens, coincided with the development of modern aviation. I have been flying for thirty years. I have been impressed as airplanes gained in performance, but appalled by the growing complexity of the mechanism. A modern airplane, even a single-engine job, represents a highly complicated piece of machinery which only well trained pilots, who have devoted their whole time to the science of flying, can handle with safety and for maximum results.

Watching this process of technical complication, I have been aware of how difficult it would be for the general public to accept the high-powered aircraft of high performance. Even if the mechanical intricacies are mastered, there is the economic burden of maintaining an elaborate machine.

GAS TURBINE

Now, along comes the gas turbine for jet or propeller propulsion, and in one fell swoop the airplane achieves practical simplicity. This is the aspect that the public has yet failed to grasp. The turbo-jet combination cuts through most of the complexities of the older airplane. It involves, in effect, only two moving parts. It has no ignition and none of the other complicated components of the reciprocal internal combustion engines, nor the delicate constant speed propeller mechanism. Maintenance of a jet-propelled plane should be simpler than that of the average automobile.

The sciences of metallurgy and thermo-chemistry are already on the threshold of advances that will make this new combustion power plant more efficient than the present reciprocal gasoline engine. True, for some time it may still consume more fuel, but the increased speed and the great saving of weight in engine and structure as well as other improvements will give it overall efficiency and make it a more desirable power plant than the ordinary American as yet suspects.

TRIPHOBIOS

One of the most vital benefits of jet propulsion is that it will make all aircraft thus equipped not only amphibious but triphibious. Since it will not require clearance for rotating propeller blades, the fuselage—once it is made water-tight—becomes a boat that can alight on land, water, snow or ice. Landings can be made directly on the "belly" on water or snow and on dry land by means of retractable landing gear.

Heretofore, amphibious planes have been unavoidably inferior to land-based planes because of the additional height required to keep the propeller from being damaged by solid water. If the plane is of the pontoon type, the landing gear has to be sufficiently elevated to clear the surface. This additional drag cuts down performance. The other method, suspending the engine above the flying boat, also results in reduced performance compared with land planes. That is why our big bombers, whether used by the Army or the Navy, are all of the land plane variety. The proof of the matter is in the interesting fact that the amphibious world speed record of 235 miles an hour, which I established in 1935, still stands, although land planes are approaching speeds of 500 miles an hour.

REVOLUTIONIZE FLYING

The jet-propelled plane, having no propellers, is as well adapted to water as to a solid surface. It will completely revolutionize water flying. Today a land plane even as huge as 300,000 pounds gross gives better performance over maximum range than a flying boat of the same weight. Though a land plane carries heavy landing gear, these are tucked away in flight and do not offer any drag. But the flying boat has to be extremely high, with an increased overall cross-section of the body and consequent loss in speed. In a jet-propelled airplane the size of the boat will be governed solely by the nature and weight of the load to be carried, whether it is designed to land on water, land or both.

We may, of course, also see a combination of power plants in a single craft—with gas turbine driving either propellers or

Accident Victim's Funeral Is Held

BASHAW—A funeral service was held for Ludwig William Schultz, 31-year-old victim of a tractor accident, in St. Peter's Lutheran church. The Rev. A. R. Wilke officiated. Mr. Schultz was born here in 1913. He had been plowing with the tractor at the time of the accident. The tractor stalled, rolling back on the plow. He was crushed between the steering wheel and the levers. Neighbors found him dead. He is survived by his wife and three sons, Gerry, Marvin and Wayne; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Gus K. Schultz, and three sisters, Mrs. S. Shierman, Mrs. W. Schultz, Mrs. H. Rutz and one brother, Arnold. Burial took place in the St. Peter's Lutheran cemetery. Graveside ceremonies were conducted by the LOOM.

Mrs. F. A. Mills and family left to make their home in Edmonton. A farewell party was held in honor of Mrs. Mills by the Ladies' Guild of which she took an active part for many years.

Morrin Residents Visit Relatives

MORRIN—Jack Crawford of Calgary was a week-end visitor in Morrin. He was accompanied home by his mother, Mrs. T. Crawford, who will spend a few days in the city. Mrs. Jack Crawford and daughters, Ellen and Jean, of Calgary, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Crawford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kirby. Paul Stickney of Calgary returned home Aug. 20, after spending a week visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stickney. Mrs. W. Greer and daughter, Lois May, of Calgary, returned home on Aug. 19, after spending a few days visiting at the home of Mrs. Greer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kirby. Marilyn Greer remained in Morrin to visit her grandparents, Mrs. L. Leyden and daughter, Norma, of Calgary, are visiting Mrs. Bertha Davidge. Miss Cleo Campbell of Calgary is spending a two-week holiday at the home of her father, N. Campbell. Marjorie Cunningham and George Parry are spending a few days visiting their grandmother, Mrs. E. J. Parry of Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowles and daughters, Ann and Linda, of Vancouver, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Bowles' father, W. McAllister. Mrs. J. Craigie of Calgary was a week-end visitor at the home of her brother, Mr. Ed Rowell, and Mrs. Rowell. Mrs. W. Price is a visitor in Calgary.

Expect Death Toll Will Reach Eighty In U.K. Plane Crash

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—An American heavy bomber, caught in a sudden storm, crashed yesterday on a village school in Freckleton, Lancashire, killing 35 children who had just settled down to their second day in school. Dozens of other persons were killed and injured as the plane bounced in flames off the school and into a crowded snack bar where between 30 and 40 were feared trapped. None had been reached by rescue parties when darkness fell. It was feared the death toll would reach 80 in Britain's worst accident of the kind.

Former Monarch Pleased Romania Is Out of War

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Former King Carol received joyfully last night the news that his country was out of the war. When he spoke the name of his son, King Michael, it was with warm emotion. With the points in Michael's said he was "Very happy that my son listened to the real sentiments of the people and has pulled Romania out of the war, that Romania ceases being an enemy of the nations which always have been her friends."

a compressor for jet propulsion. In that case the amphibious and other sea planes would take off on jet propulsion with propellers stationary and feathered, so that they clear the water and do not offer useless resistance.

After the machine becomes airborne, the turbines would be switched from compressors to propellers, since at lower altitudes and speeds the propeller-turbine combination may have greater overall efficiency than the turbine-jet propulsion. After reaching altitude of, say, 30,000 or 40,000 feet, where propeller efficiency drops, the turbine would again be clutched to jet propulsion and the plane could then climb to altitudes of perhaps 10 miles and more, where jet propulsion is most efficient.

In short, I look for jet-propelled airplanes to take the lead in the aeronautic field within a period shorter than most people now suppose.
